Relieved AFP logistics chief may get post back

By DJ Yap

THE RELIEVED chief military logistics officer, Commodore "Bobby" Pao, may be returned to his post if an ongoing investigation concludes that he had no involvement in the alleged P400 [illegible] spike in military expenditures on oil products in the first quarter.

"If we do not see any direct involvement on his part, then we can consider that," Armed Forces Chief Eduardo Oban said of Pao, who was deputy chief of staff for logistics before his relief.

The internal management audit has so far not turned up any irregularities, Oban told a briefing yesterday in the defense department.

"We're still continuing some management audits and until we're done, we have to say that indeed he has no involvement whatsoever in POL (petroleum, oil and lubricants) management," he said.

No direct involvement

Oban was categorical in saying that Pao had no direct involvement in the P400 [illegible] fuel expenditures.

Pao was relieved as chief military logistics officer last April while he was being investigated for the allegedly questionable oil expenses made by his office, the J4, for the first quarter of 2011.

The investigation was prompted by news reports that Pao's office had allegedly spent some P400 million on oil and lubricants for the AFP general headquarters and the AFP wide service support units though the quarterly quota is only about P150 million.

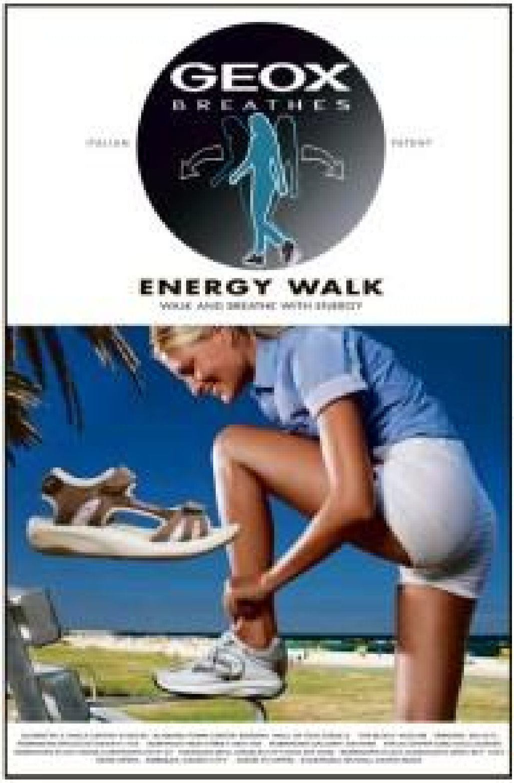

This triggered suspicions that part of the gas allocations may have been illegally converted for other uses, based on the exposé of former military budget officer George Rabusa on the systematic diversion of military funds into the personal slush fund of former AFP top brass.

P22 Cola increase takes effect May 26

By Jerome Aning

THE P22 INCREASE in the daily cost-of-living allowance for minimum wage earners announced Monday will take effect on May 26, the National Wages and Productivity Commission said yesterday.

NWPC executive director Ciriaco Lagunzad said the Regional Tripartite Wages and Productivity Board-National Capital Region (RTWPB-NCR) published Wage Order No. 16 on Wednesday and under the law, the Cola increase would take effect after 15 days.

The new daily minimum wage in Metro Manila will be P426.

He added that the Cola increase should be enforced even if the Trade Union Congress of the Philippines indicated that it would be filing a motion for reconsideration.

Meanwhile, Lagunzad said the RTWPB-Eastern Visayas approved yesterday its own Wage Order No. 16 granting workers in Biliran, Leyte and Biliran provinces an additional daily Cola of P15. The order also provided that the existing P8 Cola would be integrated into the workers' basic pay.

That '70s thing

Great trends like flared pants and floor-grazing skirts always come back—bigger, bolder and better

Mabuhay!

Jessi J. Eggerson

THE THING about the '70s is that it was so flamboyant and playful, the good parts were bound to come back, eventually.

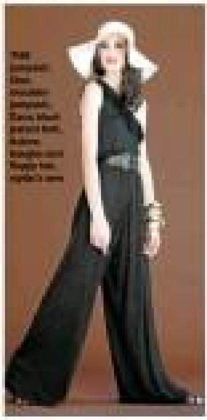

Trends are like the tides and bad boyfriends—they always come back. But when they return, they become bigger, bolder and better. They come back refined.

While one spring color offensive went bright and loud, echoing the color palette of the era, let's take a look at the stronger components.

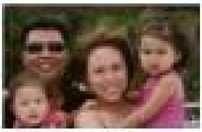

Giving women's legs a break this season, flares are flaring up on the fashion scene again. They're not as in-your-face as "leggings," and exude sensuality because while you can see the shape of a woman's legs in flares, it doesn't reveal anything.

BUSINESSMAN Raul Arambulo and Patricia Zamora Yaptinchay hosted a super dinner party at Manila Polo Club as a despedida de soltera for their daughter, Cat. With 150 invitees, the soiree bash was bigger than Cat's guest list for her wedding with Carlo Antonio, would you believe.

The Robert Blancaflor Group, [illegible] transformed the [illegible] Room into a white wonderland with touches of silver.

Highlights, dahlings, were the incredible [illegible] vocals of [illegible] and [illegible], serenading the [illegible] during dinner, and the surprise performance of the couple's pal, JM Rodriguez, [illegible] rocked the house with her special performance.

For the wedding, the lucky chosen few consisted of close kin and pals of the bride and groom. It was truly a dream wedding when Cat Arambulo, a Manila nightlife personality, decided to embrace the married life by exchanging "I dos" with Century Properties CFO Carlo Antonio. They had spent a year and six short months of togetherness, dahlings. There were only 90 guests at the private island of [illegible].

Guests arrived in private planes, jets, yachts and helicopters, and chartered flights. The wedding was a three-day affair.

On the appointed day, Cat beamed in a stunning [illegible] gown with her hair styled by [illegible] and her makeup by [illegible] of MAC Cosmetics.

Members of the entourage were in [illegible] dresses designed by [illegible], adorned with accessories by [illegible], makeup by [illegible] of Makeup Forever and [illegible] shoes by [illegible].

Junior bridesmaid and the bride's daughter Danielle Reyes also wearing a [illegible].

The solemn wedding was emotionally charged. The groom wept throughout the ceremony, causing many of the guests to shed tears as well.

At the wedding reception, the couple's fathers, the couple and their daughter, and even congressman [illegible] Joey Antonio surprised everyone with a medley of songs. Then, the bride and her father, Raul Arambulo, danced to the romantic song "The Way You Look Tonight."

Carlo, Cat and Danielle grooved to the Black Eyed Peas' "Time of Your Life."

[illegible] provided the eye-catching wedding cake; [illegible] captured the ceremony through striking photos and [illegible] videotaped the momentous occasion.

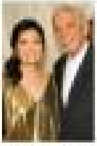

Everyone was praising the fab flower arrangements by Robert Blancaflor Group, natch!

Then it was time to rock, and rock the guests did with the couple's favorite band, Up Dharma Down.

Early Saturday, loads of friends nursing a hangover and bloodshot eyes woke up early for brunch before everyone took off for Manila, leaving the newlyweds to cuddle up to each other and watch the glorious sunset, away from the maddening crowd.

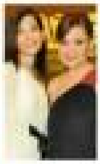

Ah, dahlings, [illegible] will totally be in the eyes of Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Antonio for years and years to come.

Cheers, palangga!

GRANDE Maison with IP gold case and fuchsia strap

SALVATORE FERRAGAMO Timepieces 2011 collection draws on the brand's aesthetic heritage to build its own personality, with three new models—Renaissance, Gancino Soirée and Grande Maison. These are timepieces that express a casual sophistication for 24/7 wearability.

Renaissance

The creative use of color and precious stones for sophisticated elements of form is the characteristic feature of Renaissance, the fashion vintage model for women with a quartz movement.

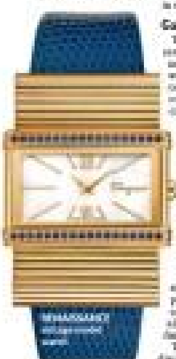

Drawing inspiration from a decorative bow featured in the Maison's various collections, the sinuous case is set with more details—the Roman indices, the mesh band bracelet, and the cabochon enhanced crown.

The Super Renaissance version features a choice between a two-tone IP gold case, illuminated by diamonds and blue or pink sapphires on the top ring, and combined with fine lizard straps in various colors.

Gancino Soirée

This jewelry watch expresses an exclusive evening accessory, an iconic Ferragamo style. With its vibrant colors and elegant style set off by fine materials, Gancino Soirée reveals the brand's exclusive femininity from a contemporary perspective.

The 24-mm case in gemstone is embellished with 24 diamonds set on the top ring. The pure color accuracy of the dial is finished in Ferragamo's signature red enamel.

RENAISSANCE vintage model watch

Grande Maison

This is an unmistakably styled timepiece that expresses with highly original color combinations, alongside IP treatments and fine detailing.

The design is essential and distinctive, a case in the shape of a gancino, revisited in a modern interpretation for a contemporary classic look, a guilloché dial with Roman indices, and iridescent leather straps.

The model makes sophisticated use of color, with a total black version for men featuring an IP finish case and tone-on-tone dial enriched with nuanced decoration, and a glamorous model for women with IP gold case and fuchsia strap.

Grande Maison is also available as a pair watch, for couples who prefer understated, impeccable style.

In the Philippines, Salvatore Ferragamo is exclusively distributed by Stores Specialists Inc. (SSI) and is located at Power Plant Mall, Greenbelt 4, Rustan's Shangri-La Mall, Rustan's Makati, Alabang Town Center and Rustan's Ayala Cebu.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, BUDDHA
Despite being pummeled by Typhoon "Bebeng," volunteers of Tzu Chi Foundation, Philippines paid homage to the Enlightened One by celebrating Buddha's birthday, along with the organization's 45th global anniversary and Mother's Day, last May 8, at the Tzu Chi Great Love Campus in Sta. Mesa, Manila. Chinese and Filipino Tzu Chi volunteers and guests conducted the sacred rite, called the Buddha Bathing Ceremony, which cleanses minds and hearts and gives thanks to the Buddha for coming into this world.

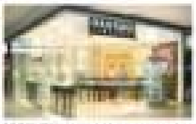

Filipino designer wins Gold Award for bracelet masterpiece

ORECHER Jewellery Philippines announces its receipt of the prestigious Gold award for the bracelet category in the 8th Hongkong International South Sea Pearl Jewelry Design Competition 2011.

After being a finalist in the same category for "Entangled" in 2009, in-house designer Glenn'e Marie Ipapo finally won Gold for "Unwrapped," a bracelet design, this year.

The award was given at the Hong Kong International Jewelry Show 2011 last March 7. Beating a field of more than 700 designs competing in seven categories, Ipapo emerged the winner. The bracelet was put on display before an international audience at the Hong Kong Convention and Exhibition Centre, together with all other winning pieces.

Orecher Jewellery has garnered a share of the market over a span of two years. Fairly new in the retail industry, Orecher Jewellery owes its success to its designer/consultant. Ipapo's philosophy is that "Jewelry should not be an unattainable luxury."
